SWOCC Studios, a Service of the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission

SWOCC Studios television production classes start November 1st.

It's that time of year again when SWOCC is offering a chance for residents and business owners to learn the fine art of television production in the convenience of their backyard from industry professionals at the amazing price of FREE!

Orientation is next Wednesday, November 1st from 6-8:30 p.m. at SWOCC Studios. There are still spaces available. This mandatory class is the first step in becoming certified as a public access user of our two-million dollar facility. At the event, there will be sign-up sheets for various FREE classes that SWOCC Studios offers such as studio production, producing, videography, and editing.

If you, or someone you know, has an important message they want to share, has an interest in television production, or even just wants to be on television for their fifteen minutes of fame, taking FREE classes at SWOCC is the best way to go about it!

Seats are filling up fast!

To sign up for Orientation or if you have any questions, please contact Access Coordinator Katherine Georgas at 248-473-2837 or kgeorgas@fhgov.com.
